

Spot any electric buses?

After months of work, the rollout of electric buses on the streets of Laval has begun. They are currently undergoing some initial runs without passengers, before being put into service officially.

Learn about the different stages of the electrification of our bus fleet on our website:

stlaval.ca/a-propos/projets/electrification

Have you renewed your monthly pass?

Did you know you may renew your bus pass for next month as of the 20th of this month? Anywhere STL bus passes sold, and of course, at any of the metropolitan ticket offices.

Find the point of sale nearest you.

stlaval.ca/tickets/buy

Have a Horizon 65+ pass?

Although it allows you to ride for free on all our buses, you should still check the expiry date on the back of your OPUS card.

If your card expires soon, renew it as soon as possible at a metropolitan ticket office located inside the Montmorency or Cartier bus terminal.

stlaval.ca/practical-info/seniors

Make the most of spring break!

From February 27 through March 7, get around downtown Laval and its many points of interest for free aboard our 360 Shuttle Bus.

Departures every 20 minutes from the Montmorency terminal (Platform N° 8).

stlaval.ca/practical-info/deals

Adapting to winter weather!

We keep our buses rolling in all winter weather conditions.

Nevertheless, when the roads are snowy or icy, you should plan your commutes accordingly and anticipate slower trip times than usual.

Stay up to date via our posts on our website and social media!

stlaval.ca/network/alerts